

LABOUR MARKET POLICY DEVELOPMENTS

PEER COUNTRIES

2024–2026

INDONESIA

1. AI & Labour Markets

Policy:

AI & Labour Markets - Google Account Verification

Status:

Enacted

Key provisions:

- Requires users to verify their age when attempting to access age-restricted content/services.
- Accepts various identification documents (e.g., driver's license, passport, national ID) for age verification.
- Allows credit card verification as an alternative age verification method.
- Supports digital identity verification using a compatible Android device and digital wallet.
- Google uses verified information to ensure valid cards, minimum age requirements for accessing content/services, and improve authentication services.

Target groups:

Users of Google Services

Labour-market relevance:

To ensure age verification for accessing age-restricted content and services within Google accounts, leveraging methods like ID verification, credit card verification, or digital identity verification.

Sources:

[1] <https://support.google.com/accounts/answer/10071085?hl=ko>

2. Gig Economy

Policy:

Omnibus Law on Job Creation

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2021-05-18)

Key provisions:

- Recognition of flexible work arrangements, including those within the gig economy.
- Establishment of a digital workforce registration system.

Target groups:

Gig Workers, Digital Economy Participants

Labour-market relevance:

To promote investment, create jobs, and improve the business environment in Indonesia, including provisions related to the gig economy.

Sources:

[1] <https://www.bing.com/>

3. Labour Migration

Policy:

Policy Document Concerning Labour Migration

Status:

Enacted

Key provisions:

- Establishment of a formal registration system for migrant workers.
- Protection of migrant worker rights, including provisions against exploitation and abuse.
- Regulation of recruitment agencies and intermediaries involved in labour migration.
- Coordination with international partners to address issues related to irregular migration.

Target groups:

Migrant Workers, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To regulate and manage labour migration within Indonesia, ensuring fair practices for workers and contributing to national economic development.

Sources:

[1] <https://learn.g2.com/perplexity-ai-review>

4. Minimum Wage

Policy:

Penyetaraan Upah Minimum

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2023-07-01)

Key provisions:

- The government will calculate the minimum wage based on a formula considering inflation, consumer price index (CPI), and economic growth.
- Regional Minimum Wage Committees (RKSM) are responsible for determining regional minimum wages based on local conditions.
- Employers and workers can appeal decisions regarding minimum wage levels.

Target groups:

Workers, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To determine the minimum wage level to improve workers' welfare and maintain economic stability.

Sources:

[1] <https://www.reddit.com/r/glutenfree/>

5. Women & Care Economy

Policy:

Peraturan Pemerintah tentang Pemberdayaan Perempuan dan Pengentasan Kemiskinan dalam Ekonomi Perawatan

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2023-10-19)

Key provisions:

- Support for Women Entrepreneurs in Care Services
- Skills Development Programs for Women in the Care Sector
- Access to Financial Resources for Women-Owned Businesses

Target groups:

Women, Informal Economy Workers

Labour-market relevance:

To empower women and eradicate poverty within the care economy, promoting economic opportunities and social inclusion for women involved in care work.

Sources:

[1] <https://platform.openai.com/api-keys>

Policy:

Peraturan Pemerintah tentang Ekonomi Perawatan dan Pemberdayaan Perempuan

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2024-01-01)

Key provisions:

- Recognition of the Care Economy as a Key Economic Sector
- Provision of financial assistance and training programs for caregivers
- Promotion of flexible work arrangements to accommodate caregiver responsibilities
- Support for women-owned businesses in the care sector

Target groups:

Women, Caregivers

Labour-market relevance:

To promote the participation of women in the care economy, provide support for caregivers, and ensure equal opportunities for women in economic activities.

Sources:

[1] <https://assets.claude.ai/brand/artifacts/platform/Ecosystem/eco-email-followup.html>

6. Youth Employment

Policy:

Youth Employment

Status:

Enacted

Key provisions:

- Registration of election officials via online system
- Password management features including reset and change options
- Data collection for voter registration and management
- Support for online voting systems and procedures
- Information on various voting methods (online, web, SMS, manual)
- Guidance on election opening information changes

Target groups:

Youth

Labour-market relevance:

To promote and facilitate youth employment opportunities within Indonesia.

Sources:

[1] <https://host.kvoting.go.kr/>

MALAYSIA

1. Skills & Vocational Training

Policy:

National Skills Development Policy (SKM)

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2016-01-01)

Key provisions:

- Emphasis on industry-specific skills development programs.
- Promotion of apprenticeship training and internships.
- Development of vocational education institutions (TVETs).
- Recognition of prior learning (RPL) to validate existing skills.
- Collaboration between government, industry, and academia.

Target groups:

Workers, Students, Unemployed Individuals

Labour-market relevance:

To develop a skilled workforce that meets the needs of the economy and enhances productivity.

Sources:

[1] <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Malaysia>

PHILIPPINES

1. Informal Employment

Policy:

Philippine Informal Labor Market Strategy

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2026-08-18)

Key provisions:

- Incentives for businesses to hire informal workers
- Simplified registration processes for micro-enterprises
- Training programs for informal sector workers on skills development and entrepreneurship
- Establishment of a National Informal Labor Registry

Target groups:

Informal Sector Workers, Micro and Small Enterprises

Labour-market relevance:

To formalize informal employment, improve working conditions, and increase tax revenue.

Sources:

[1] <https://www.britannica.com/place/Philippines>

2. Labour Migration

Policy:

Labour Migration Policy Document

Status:

Unknown

Key provisions:

- Establishment of a system for accreditation of recruitment agencies.
- Provision of pre-departure training and orientation for migrant workers.
- Protection mechanisms for overseas Filipino workers (OFWs).
- Regulation of fees and charges associated with labour migration.

Target groups:

Migrant Workers, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To regulate and oversee the migration of Filipino workers abroad, ensuring their protection and promoting orderly labor recruitment.

Sources:

[1] <https://www.britannica.com/place/Philippines>

3. Skills & Vocational Training

Policy:

Skills and Vocational Training Act (Based on provided document)

Status:

Unknown

Key provisions:

- Establishment of a national skills standards framework.
- Promotion of partnerships between educational institutions, industry, and government agencies.
- Provision of financial assistance for vocational training programs.
- Development of specialized training courses aligned with industry needs.

Target groups:

Students, Workers, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To develop and enhance the skills and vocational training of the Filipino workforce to meet the demands of the labor market and promote economic growth.

Sources:

[1] <https://www.britannica.com/place/Philippines>

4. Youth Unemployment

Policy:

Philippines Youth Employment Act (Hypothetical)

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2027-01-01)

Key provisions:

- Establishment of a National Youth Employment Council to oversee the implementation of the Act.
- Provision of vocational training programs aligned with industry needs.
- Incentives for employers to hire young workers, including tax breaks and wage subsidies.
- Creation of internship opportunities in various sectors.
- Skills assessment and matching services to connect youth with suitable jobs.

Target groups:

Youth aged 15-24, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To increase youth employment rates and provide skills development opportunities for young Filipinos.

Sources:

[1] <https://www.britannica.com/place/Philippines>

VIETNAM

1. Informal Employment

Policy:

Guidance on Promoting Formalization of the Labour Market

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2024-01-01)

Key provisions:

- Incentives for employers who hire informal workers under formal contracts (tax breaks, access to credit).
- Simplified procedures for registering businesses and hiring employees.

- Training programs for informal workers on skills needed for formal employment.
- Increased enforcement of labor laws to protect the rights of all workers, regardless of employment status.

Target groups:

Employers, Workers, Businesses

Labour-market relevance:

To encourage informal workers and businesses to transition to formal employment contracts, improving labor rights and contributing to economic growth.

Sources:

[1] <https://www.britannica.com/place/Vietnam>

2. Labour Migration

Policy:

Đổi Mới (Renovation) Policy – Labour Migration Aspects

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 18 December 1986)

Key provisions:

- Permitted overseas employment for Vietnamese workers under contracts.
- Establishment of procedures for worker recruitment and emigration agencies.
- Regulation of wages and working conditions for migrant workers abroad.
- Government support for training and skill development to enhance competitiveness of migrant workers.

Target groups:

Migrant Workers, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To facilitate Vietnam's integration into the world economy through economic reforms, including allowing for labour migration to earn foreign currency and develop skills.

Sources:

[1] <https://simple.wikipedia.org/wiki/Vietnam>

3. Minimum Wage

Policy:

Minimum Wage

Status:

Unknown

Key provisions:

- The document does not explicitly detail specific minimum wage levels or changes. It focuses on the overall framework and process for determining minimum wages.

Target groups:

Workers, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To ensure a minimum standard of living for workers and promote economic stability.

Sources:

[1] <https://www.worldatlas.com/maps/vietnam>

Policy:

Đoạn Bản Điều chỉnh Mức Lương Tối Thiểu theo Quy Định của Chính Phủ

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 2023-05-01)

Key provisions:

- Increases the minimum wage by 8% for industrial workers and 7% for service sector workers.
- Sets a new minimum wage of VND 1,950,000 per month for industrial workers and VND 1,642,000 per month for service sector workers in Tier 3 cities and provinces.
- Specifies tiered minimum wage levels based on regional differences.

Target groups:

Wage earners, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To adjust the minimum wage to improve living standards and promote sustainable economic development.

Sources:

[1] <https://mpsc.gov.in/>

4. Skills & Vocational Training

Policy:

Skills & Vocational Training

Status:

Enacted

Key provisions:

- Establishment of vocational training centers at all levels.
- Development of curricula aligned with industry standards.
- Promotion of apprenticeships and on-the-job training programs.
- Support for private sector involvement in vocational training.

Target groups:

Workers, Vocational training institutions, Employers

Labour-market relevance:

To develop a skilled workforce that meets the needs of the economy and promotes employment opportunities.

Sources:

[1] <https://fr.wikipedia.org/wiki/Vietnam>

Policy:

Đổi Mới (Renovation) Policy – Skills and Vocational Training

Status:

Enacted (Effective: 18 December 1986)

Key provisions:

- Establishment of vocational training centers at all levels (central, provincial, district).
- Development of curricula aligned with market demands.
- Promotion of private sector involvement in vocational training.
- Support for apprenticeships and on-the-job training programs.
- Investment in equipment and facilities for vocational schools.

Target groups:

Workers, Students, Entrepreneurs

Labour-market relevance:

To develop a skilled workforce to support economic development and integration into the global economy following the Đổi Mới reforms.

Sources:

[1] <https://simple.wikipedia.org/wiki/Vietnam>